

Competition is important to fuel growth and provide choices/options to the consumer. I feel these mergers will severely reduce the access we have to innovative technology through competition, and lead to increased pricing from these companies.